- Photo Management Changes

These changes are meant to give members more control over the photos associated with the properties/listings they represent. Users can now:

- Remove unwanted property photos (ie. low-quality Google snapshots) in most cases.
- Designate some listing photos (like shots of the exterior or common areas) to be shared on all their listings for a property (without sharing those photos on listings associated with agents from other companies).
- Select one of their listing photos to override Catylist's property photo (in search results, etc) in most cases.

These new changes allow members to add Common Listing Photos. Listing photos designated as common will be shared on all your listings for a particular property. These common photos should be shots of the exterior or common areas of the building/property. Members can also still add Specific Listing Photos, which should be shots of the interior of a specific space.

When editing a listing, users will now be able to manage these two types of listing photos (common on left, specific on the right). Members can drag and drop photos to switch them between being "common" or "specific", to select a primary, or to change their order.

Common Listing Photos
These will be displayed on all of your company's listed spaces for this property and are typically exterior photos.

 This is the primary common photo. It will be the default photo on the property in search results and detail views.

Photos for this specific listed space
These will be displayed only on this listed space and typically include interior photos. Drag to reorder.

- Company logos will now display on the top right of all PDF reports when generated.
